Patience

Patience, a key factor and one of the most important characteristics to achieve anything in your life either big or small. Ask yourself that how patient are you? How many times you have done your work patiently?

For example: If we are standing at a red signal side then observe that how many times people blow horn? They don't even wait till the signal turns green. They blow horn several times as if due to it the signal will automatically turn green. This is called 'Lack of Patience'.

The so called today's 'Young generation' needs everything very fast as they are made habitual of it since their childhood and due to this they lack patience in themselves. They want their life to be as fast as their 4G internet speed data.

Simply if you build up your mind and make yourself calm you can also have patience. It is not a big deal, just try it you will definitely succeed in this task. If you can glorify this habit into you then no "Mikalal" can stop you from reaching your goal. Be happy and work patiently, tomorrow will be yours.
Thank You.
